Vania Ferreira

Architect

Vania Ferreira, with 15 years of experience in Brazil as an Architect, completed her university education in São Paulo in 2000. Early in her career, she worked on a diverse range of projects, including high-end residential projects, multi-residential developments, and industrial buildings.

Leading a small team of architects, she honed her skills in communicating with clients and attending sites, and developed a passion for hand-sketching initial ideas before transitioning to digital mediums.

In 2015, she moved to the United States, where she freelanced from sunny California. In 2019, she further expanded her global experience by relocating with her family to the UK. Since 2022, Vania has been serving as an Architect Assistant at Andrew Catto Architects, thrilled to be working again as part of an experienced team.'
